Here are some content ideas. This is not an exhaustive list but should give some ideas to get you started.

Share stories from your personal experiences that have shaped your faith and your connection to the church. This will allow your audience to relate to you on a human level and create a genuine bond.

Go behind-the-scenes. Give people a glimpse into the church's or organization's everyday workings—like setting up for services, community outreach activities, or even informal gatherings.

Highlight members of your congregation or organization. Share their stories, achievements, or testimonials. This not only strengthens the community bond but also shows the impact of your church on individuals.

Host live Q&A sessions where you address doubts, questions, or just general topics related to faith, spirituality, and community. This offers an interactive element to your platform and shows you're engaged and willing to address tough questions.

Share recommendations for books, podcasts, or articles that have personally influenced you or align with your church's teachings. This gives your followers resources to delve deeper into their faith.

Collaborate with other leaders, speakers, or influencers in your domain through interviews, discussions, or joint initiatives. Collaboration can introduce your message to a broader audience and offer diverse insights.
